I read most of the books written by Jack London. Call of the Wild, White Fang are my favorites, followed closely by The Sea Wolf. One of his short stories may have saved my life. In it, a man was walking in terribly cold weather and he decided to lie down and rest. They found his body after the spring thaw.

Some day he would call, when the stars were ready, and the secret cult would always be waiting to liberate him. Meanwhile no more must be told. There was a secret which even torture could not extract. Mankind was not absolutely alone among the conscious things of earth, for shapes came out of the dark to visit the faithful few.
