

converges by comparison. Sometimes the inequalities we need to apply the Comparison Test seem to go the wrong way. Consider for example the series $\sum_{n=1}^{\infty} \frac{1}{2n-1}$. We would like to compare this series with the divergent series $\sum_{n=1}^{\infty} \frac{1}{2n}$, but the terms in our series seem to be smaller than the terms of $\frac{1}{2n}$. Therefore we cannot naively apply the Comparison Test in this case. Example 5.

2.5. THE COMPARISON TEST - Mathematics Department

Results: Mean reported convergence angle value was 22.72°, which was significantly greater ($p < 0.001$) than the recommended values. Statistically significant difference in convergence angle was found between anterior vs. molar teeth and between premolars vs. molar teeth ($p=0.0001$ and $p=0.002$, respectively).
